

Quoting & Citation Examples (Again)

STATIC (POOR)

“The September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon and the abortive attack (possibly aimed at the White House or Camp David) that resulted in the crash of a jetliner in Pennsylvania has resulted in a new and extraordinary emphasis by the Bush administration on combating terrorism” (Richelson and Evans).

EMBEDDED (BEST) CITATION AT END

The early part of the 21st century saw “a new and extraordinary emphasis by the Bush administration on combating terrorism” (Richelson and Evans).

EMBEDDED (BEST) CITATION AT BEGINNING

Richelson and Evans state that there was “a new and extraordinary emphasis by the Bush administration on combating terrorism.”

DIALOGUE (ACCEPTABLE)

According to Richelson and Evans, there was “a new and extraordinary emphasis by the Bush administration on combating terrorism.”

IN-TEXT CITATIONS

- GENERIC FORMULA: “QUOTE” (Author Last Name Page Number).
- PREFERRED CITATION: “QUOTE” (Richelson and Evans 29).
- ACCEPTABLE CITATION: “QUOTE” (“Volume I: Terrorism and U.S. Policy”)
- LAST RESORT CITATION #1 (Website Name): “QUOTE” (National Security Archive)
- LAST RESORT CITATION #2 (Website Base URL): “QUOTE” (nationalsecurity.blogspot.com)